Hepworth English

Today we are continuing our unit of work about The Eye of the Wolf.

Please begin today by rereading pages 24-37.

Think and makes notes about:

What do the wolves think about humans? Why? What do you feel about the hunters?

We are going to explore the story now from a different perspective.

Think about the humans in the story and how they feel about the wolves

Are they afraid? What do they think the wolves might do?

Using the ideas you have just thought about, I would like you to write about a meeting between the wolves and humans, but from a human's viewpoint (perspective).

Use the LO slip below to help you focus on your writing and remember to edit and improve your work once you have finished.

L.O. To write a narrative from a different perspective
1.Make notes about the thoughts and feelings the humans have about the wolves
2. Use clear description – characters, setting, atmosphere
3. Include dialogue – with correct punctuation
4. Include a wide range of punctuation in the writing (minimum of four different types)
